FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 9-6 P. M. The gold market opened at 141% this morning, and after touching 144% declined to 143%, under a heavy pressure to sell on speculation for a fail, based upon the results of the elections in Pennsylvania and Ohio. Subsequently there was a reaction to 141% a 144%, but this again was followed by a reinpse to 143% a 143% at the close. The market has been largely oversold, ih order to force the premium down for effect, politically and otherwise, and a reaction corresponding to the decline is likely to follow, the conditions a lecting gold being the same as they were before the elections took place. There was a brisk borrowing demand for coin, and loans were nade at 3 a 7 per cent for carrying, and afterwards without interest. The gross clearings amounted to $43,947,000, the gold balances to $1,588,701, and the rrency balances to $2,772,496.

The Erie election jesterday turns out to have been something very like a farce. One of the new directors, Mr. Underwood, resigned his position a few hours after his election, and Mr. Daniel Drew was not only elected to fill his place, but appointed Treasurer as well, the new board having previously voted to guarantee the four millions of construction bones of the Boston, Hartford and Erie road, to which Mr. Drew was apposed. The. road is to be completed from Hartford to Feshkill Land,ing, and the latter is to clong to the Eric ofke the lvy to the oak during the present administration. This is as specimen of what may be expected from the new board of directors, which is 'posi-tively worse then the old one. It is a decidedly speculative board, and Eric will be appuppet in their bands on the Stock Exchange, while the road docbtless be muraged to suit their speculative interests, entirely regardless of the stockholders outside of their own clique. Mr. John S. Eléridge, of Boston, has tent; but it is e-mystery to the street hew Mr. Drew orked into the board after the election, had gene n not him. Pho general belief is that what has come preconcerted, in order, among other reaes, that the friends of the Boston, Hartford and Erie, thich Mr. John S. Eldridge is Presedent, might guarstee the bonds referred to. Their object in admitting Mr. Drow was probably to get him to work with them in manipulating the stock, and he is the best man in the board, which is not saying much for his co-directors. It is rumored that he paid a large sum to sent, but if so the facts are not likely to transpire, and this theory is hardly consistent with his election se treasurer, which is the position above all others Mr. Drew would be most likely to covet. With him, where he is, the Eric board is as Drewish as it ever was, and he will probably rule the roast. The general stock market remains firm, and with the temper the street, as buillish as it is just now, the bears are unwilling to renew the operations. It is a dangerous time to buy stocks, however, and although they may go a little ligher is the meansime, they will be much lower before long. There was an active demand for money, and call loans were made at seven per cent, without exceptions in favor of government securities. The drain westward is ward steadily, but thus far in the week it has been on a smaller scale than during the previous fort-night. Discounts are made with great caution and to a very timited extent, and although the rate for the best quality is nominally seven per cent borrowers are willng to submit to 8 a 9. The tendency of the money market is towards greater activity, and the reduction of the balance in the Sub-Treasury to its present low point removes all hope of relief from that source, while the mies of gold by the government are likely to add to the balance by withdrawing funds from the banks.

cation for a mandamus was made in the Su preme Court on the 5th inst., to compel the Pec.iic Mari Steamship Company to exhibit its stock and transfer books, in accordance with section thirteen of the act incorporating the company, passed April 12, 1848. It apare from the affidavit of the applicant that he call at the company's office on the 3d and 4th inst, and demanded access to the transfer books, which the president, Mr. McLane, and the secretary and treasurer declined to produce. The inference to be deduced from this is that the present directors are desirous of being re-elected at the next annual meeting, which will be held shortly, and that in view of this they are auxious to prevent their opponents from seeing the transfer books and canvassing for proxies. Such a course of conduct is, nowever, open to sharp criticism, and we await with interest the result of the legal proceedings in the matter.

At a meeting of the Cieveland, Painesville and Ashta-bula and the Cieve and and Toledo Raitroad Companies. held at Cleveland, yesterday to vote on the question of lease and conso Mation. a large vote was polled unani-mously in favor of the same by both companies. A Garcago Jeannal of Monday remarks:—

A Oncago Joernal of Monday remarks:—

The money market was close and stringent, as the national banks were disposed to board, in view of the publication of the quarterly statement on Monday. Contrary to general expectation, a little "shinning" for ourrency was observable this afternoon, as much more course of than need was paid over the counter. This was the case more particularly with the private banks. Some $400,000 or $500,000 were received by express this morning—part from St. Louis and the balance from New York—and had it not been for these remittances there would have been more "admining" for currency, with a lighter money market. The offerings of sight paper, drawn against cargoes, were quite liberal, and generally credited up at & discount. For discounts the market was very close; but as borrowers understood the situation, the offerings were light.

The market for New York funds opened weak, and free sales were made from bank to bank as ½ discount; but later in the day the feeling was stronger, with transactions at 1-5 off.

A correspondent, writing on September 26, says of the Credit Mobiller:—

A correspondent, writing on September 20, says of the Credit Mobilier:—

The affair of the Credit Mobilier continues to excite great interest in flaancial circles. In my last I mentioned that the rottrement of the two Messers, Pereire from the directory of the "institution," as they used to call it, which they founded, and of which they were, so to speak, the linearnation, was thought probable. It has taken piace aiready, somewhat to the surprise of the shareholders and the public, who did not expect so speady a retireat. The animously that was felt against them in the very day of their prosperity is manifested very strongly now that their "institution" has come to grief. All that is generally said of the directors of companies is, that after brilliant success they haish in disaster. They are threatened with prosecutions at law, though on what they should remain rich when their shareholders are ruined, and d mand that their private fortune, which the journa's estimate at from £4,000,000 to £6,000 00 tering, shall be sacrificed by them, or, if they should hesitate to give it up, be taken from them. All this need occasion no surprise. In France, it is said, and truir said, that "nothing succeeds like success;" in France, too, hooking is regarded with such centempt and soom as he lure. In success the Pereires were, it is not too muga to say, worshipped; now that evil days have come, it is not surprising that they are abused. But, in common justice it should be remembered, that in spite of the inmeniate faces of the Credit Mobilier, they have done more than any men to establish railways in France, too, had no loconsiderable part in promoting the remarkable extension of material prosperity which took place in France after the coup d'etal.

The Metropolitan Revenue Board met vesterday, for the first time since Friday last, and transacted a large amount of business. A number of cases were turned over to the district attorneys for prosecution, and in some instances where seizures had been made the property seized was released after investigation had been

In the case of S. P. Ingraham's distillery, Franklin avenue, Brooklyn, mentioned in yesterday's HERALD as naving been seized on a charge of there being "a dis crepancy of firty thousand gallons unaccounted for to the government," it appears that the alleged discrepancy was simply a mistake on the part of the assistant assessor, who erroneously charged the establishment both for primary inspection when the establishment both for primary inspection when the spirits were manufactured and for reinspection when removed from the bonded warehouse cass A, thus making it appear that fifty thousand gallons more than the quantity noted on the books were removed from bond for recufication. The Board turned the matter over to District Autorney Tracy for investigation and disposal, and that officer, on becoming acquainted with the faces, ordered the distillery to be unconditionally released.

Colonel Pincancy, Chief of the Inspectors' corps, having completed his plan of operations for the more effective detection of fraud, yesterday inid it before the Board. If the effectivenes of this plan prove to be as great, as is claimed for it the perpetration of windsex frames in future will become a matter of difficulty and the detection of them almost invariably certain.
